

Counterfactual explanations of neural network predictions: A Galactic Center Excess case study

Siddharth Mishra-Sharma,^{1,2,3,*} Yitian Sun,^{1,2,†} and Tracy R. Slatyer^{1,2,‡}

¹*Center for Theoretical Physics, Massachusetts Institute of Technology, Cambridge, MA 02139, USA*

²*The NSF AI Institute for Artificial Intelligence and Fundamental Interactions*

³*Department of Physics, Harvard University, Cambridge, MA 02138, USA*

(Dated: April 1, 2022)

Abstract goes here.

CONTENTS

I. Introduction	1
II. Methodology	1
A. Normalizing flows	1
B. Explanations through data perturbations: adversarial vs. counterfactual	1
C. Counterfactual analyses with normalizing flows	1
III. Tests on simulated data	1
IV. Results on Fermi data	1
V. Discussion and conclusions	1
Acknowledgments	1
References	1

I. INTRODUCTION

II. METHODOLOGY

A. Normalizing flows

B. Explanations through data perturbations: adversarial vs. counterfactual

C. Counterfactual analyses with normalizing flows

III. TESTS ON SIMULATED DATA

IV. RESULTS ON FERMI DATA

V. DISCUSSION AND CONCLUSIONS

ACKNOWLEDGMENTS

* smsharma@mit.edu; ORCID: 0000-0001-9088-7845

† ORCID: 0000-0002-4697-8384

‡ ORCID: 0000-0001-9699-9047